GOVERNOR BUSY VETOING ENACTMENTS

ADULT PROBATION MEASURE DISAPPROVED BY EXECUTIVE

Frowns Upon Proposal to Establish a Municipal Court in East Liverpool—Probation Law Sponsored by Ohio Institute of Public Efficiency and Welfare Workers.

On the ground that its provisions contemplate establishment of new offices Governor A. V. Donahey disapproved the bill by Representative Louis Rubenstein, Hamilton county, to establish an adult probation system in Ohio. The measure was sponsored by the Ohio Institute of Public Efficiency and Welfare Workers.

The veto message recalls that two years ago the governor disapproved a bill for probation of prisoners in charge of court constables instead of regular probation officers of penal institutions. This was passed notwithstanding objections of the governor, and has been in operation since that time.

"The nucleus, around which this proposed new governmental agency centers is found in section 1554-1 of the bill. Therein is centered provision for a horde of new public officials, probation officers and employees, clerks and stenographers and, so far as the bill is concerned, a tax eating army unlimited in number and with salaries undetermined. All this is left to the judgment or caprice, whichever it may be, of local judges and county commissioners through the eighty-eight counties of the state.

"Such innovation is sure to add enormously to the burden of the already overtaxed people of Ohio. Under the terms of this bill the human equation cannot fail to enter. Those to whom is given the power of making all these appointments and fixing the salaries, are human. Within so large an appointing body, the politician and snailman will, of course, be found. Opportunity for machine building is rarely lost to the politician. The divided authority provided by the bill, effective in the cities, means multiplication of appointments at public expense.

New offices should never be created unless there is certainty of the need. The tendency in this direction is a barefaced one and should enlist the watchfulness of every servant whose duty it is to protect the taxpayers from new forms and methods of reaching into the public treasury.

"As a matter of fact, the addition of six field officers to the present forces of the Ohio penitentiary and the Ohio State Reformatory will take care of present probation conditions, and at a small fraction of the expense contemplated by this bill. Besides the courts have undiminished power under the salutary probation statutes. The intent of the sponsors of the bill undoubtedly is laudable, but there is no occasion or necessity for opening the door, as it does, to a multitude of abuses. For this reason, as well as the fact that it authorizes creation of a new, unnecessary, political job hunters' paradise, I cannot approve the measure."

Governor Donahey also vetoed the measure to establish a municipal court at East Liverpool. This is the second act of its kind to meet executive disapproval.

COLUMBUS CHAIN STORE IS HELD UP

Columbus, April 2 (UP).—A negro bandit looted three persons in the ice box and robbed a chain grocery of $200 here today.

John Riggins, manager of the store, Walter Peters, his butcher and a little girl customer were forced to enter the ice box together.

A short while after the negro had fled the trio succeeded in freeing themselves and reported the episode to police.

J. O. MANSEN

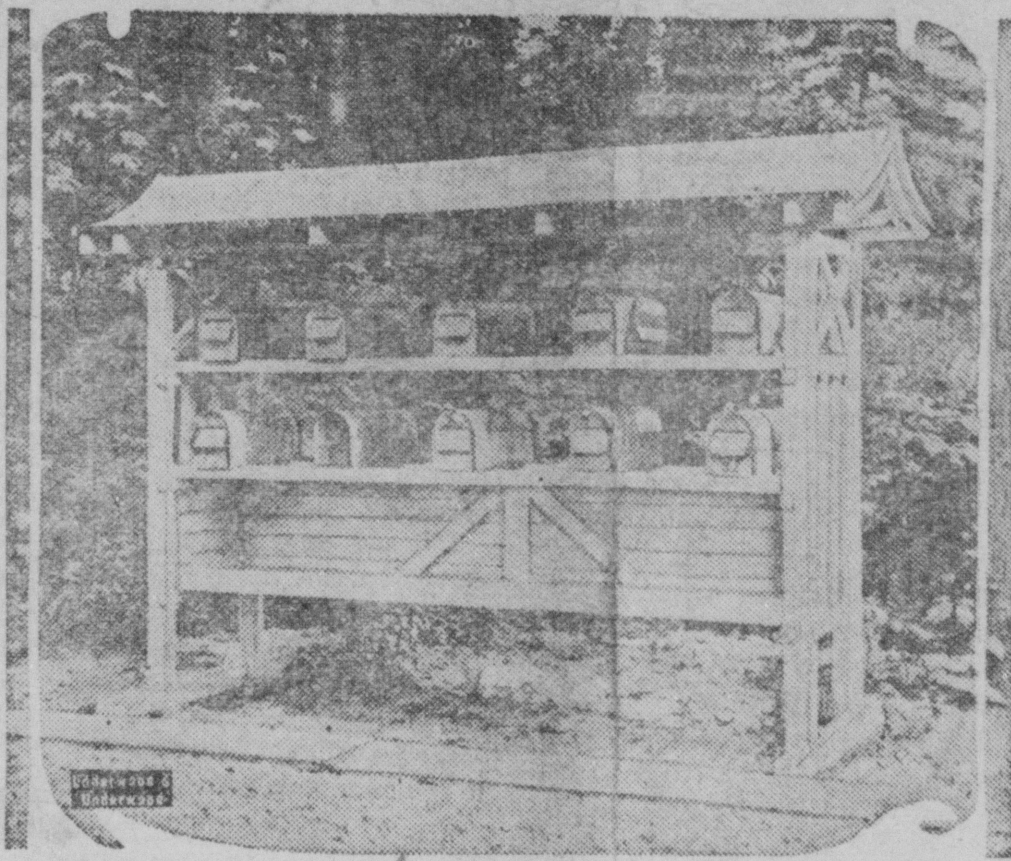

Handling millions of dollars daily brings no thrill to J. O. Mansen, assistant cashier of the United States treasury, who has handled more money than anyone else in the world. He has been at work at this job in the treasury since 1916. He is a Civil war veteran.

JEFFERSON COUNTY MAYORS. Steubenville, April 2 (UP).—The three Jefferson county mayors charged with promiscuously issuing blank search warrants have been bound over to the grand jury. They also await a hearing on the same charges before Governor Donahey April 21.

Probably Oldest Bush

Dr. Edgar T. Wherry, of the United States Department of Agriculture, told members of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that a box huckleberry bush in Perry county, Pa., is the oldest bush in the world. At least that is his opinion. This remarkable bush is a mile and a quarter long and covers the entire side of a hill. Doctor Wherry estimates that it grows six inches a year. Taking that as a basis the plant must now be something like 12,000 years old.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Newest Thing in R. F. D. Boxes

Residents of Mercer island, in Lake Washington, Washington, grew tired of the usual unsightly rural mail box attached to any kind and size of pole for support. So a number of property owners got together and constructed the clever shelter shown in the photograph, each man putting in his own mailbox.

GASOLINE TAX CRITICS ARE ANSWERED

Author of Law Said the Measure Was Very Carefully Considered.

Columbus, April 2 (UP).—Representative John T. Brown, of Champaign county, today replied to critics of the gasoline tax bill now awaiting Governor Donahey's veto.

As author of the measure Brown declared that the recent attacks on it constitute "a gross misrepresentation and should not go unchallenged."

As to the bill's legal merit Brown said it was approved by the best talent in the attorney general's office and the legislative reference committee. It was not "carelessly thrown together" as charged, Brown said, but was the result of nine weeks of careful study by three different committees.

The author if the bill said it would apply to all petroleum products except kerosene including gasoline under whatever name and any other volatile fuel derived from petrol.

"The motorists of Ohio" said Brown "will pay the gasoline tax whether this bill becomes a law or not. Neighboring states have gasoline taxes and the oil companies are keeping Ohio gasoline to the level of these states. The oil companies are getting the money now. If the gasoline tax becomes a law this margin will go toward good roads for Ohio."

"It is easy to see why oil companies are opposing the mill."

USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD IS CHARGED

Cleveland, April 1 (UP).—Elmer L. Volkmer was arrested on a federal warrant today charging him with using the mails to defraud.

Volkmer is head of the Volkmer Shoe Co., with stores thruout Ohio.

The charge is an outgrowth of an alleged false financial statement in which he is said to have represented assets he did not have at a time when he is alleged to have been insolvent.

Materials in Piano

More than 1,000 different pieces of material, varying from felt to wood, ivory and many kinds of metal, enter into the making of a high-grade piano.

GRAND JURY INDICTED THE SHERIFF

Cincinnati O., April 2 (UP).—Sheriff Richard P. Witt was indicted by the county grand jury today for conducting a disorderly house.

The indictment comes as a climax to a long investigation of alleged graft and improper conduct in official circles here. Seventy-one policemen and dry agents are under federal indictment for accepting bribes and bootlegging.

"I had heard that I was to be indicted," said Witt when informed of the grand jury's action. "I prefer not to make a statement until I have seen the indictment."

EMERGENCY APPROVED BY GOVERNOR

Columbus, April 2 (UP).—The Williams bill providing emergency relief for cities and school districts short of funds for current operating expenses, has become a law.

The measure making corrections of technical errors in the original bill, was signed late Wednesday night by Governor Donahey after he had remained at his office until ten o'clock to see the matter cleaned up.

Lieutenant Governor Lewis and Speaker Harry D. Silver were summoned to sign the bill which was then given the governor for his signature. The governor signed it and then went to bed.

MRS. WILLIAM LAIMBEER

Mrs. William Laimbeer of New York is president of the National Association of Bank Women.

He was brought to this city by a Monroe township constable and was placed in the county jail until he can be taken back for a hearing before Squire Nelson Winfough.

SAWYER FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late David P. Sawyer will be held from the home, 450 East Ohio street, Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. C. V. Coppock will officiate. Interment in the Hitler-Ludwig cemetery.

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION WEDNESDAY

Special Assessment Ordinance for Franklin Street Improvement Passed.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday evening, April 1, with President Pro-tem L. T. Shaner presiding and all members present.

Mayor Fitzpatrick reported fines, licenses and fees collected in March in the sum of $167.80 and on motion of Mr. Wolf this report was received.

Service Director Schneider reported that on account of building the culvert over Hargus creek, it will be necessary to take up and relay a portion of the sanitary sewer in Court street. On motion of Mr. Kline this was referred to the committee on department of public service.

A petition signed by L. C. Hammel and others asking for a sanitary sewer on Pickaway street between Watt and High streets was on motion of Mr. Leist referred to the committee on department of public service.

An ordinance accepting the ownership of a private sewer extending south thru East Area alley from Franklin street to lot No. 589 was introduced, read the first time and on motion of Mr. Baker was referred to the ordinance committee.

The equalizing board reported that it had considered objections to the proposed assessment on the abutting property owners for the paving of Franklin street. The report was read and placed on file.

An ordinance to levy special assessments for the improvement of Franklin street was read the first time. On motion of Mr. Baker the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed.

On motion of Mr. Marion the depositary commission was instructed to advertise for bids for all moneys in the hands of the city treasurer, excepting school and sinking funds, in excess of $40,000, said contract to expire August 20, 1925.

FOR RIOTING KLANSMEN DRAW FINES

Twenty-Seven Found Guilty of Carrying Concealed Weapons at Niles.

Twenty-seven men indicted in connection with the Niles Klan riots of last November were found guilty of carrying concealed weapons in common pleas court Wednesday afternoon. Judge J. S. Thomas fined each of the 27 defendants $300 and then promptly suspended $250 of the fine.

The men had submitted their cases to the judge on a statement of fact. The verdict was reached by the judge after several days of wrangling between attorneys for both sides.

Eleven of the convicted men were from Toledo, one was from Akron and the rest live in Mahoning county.

The defendants declared they were deputized by Mayor Harvey C. Kistler of Niles, during the disorders and therefore had a legal right to carry weapons.

Judge Thomas, however, held that the mayor was without authority in deputizing men outside the city of Niles.

Misses Helen and Olive Row spent the day in Columbus.

THE AER-O-PLANE MOVIE.

"The Lilies of the Field," a movie picture put on by the Aer-O-Plane merchants Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Grand Opera house, drew a great number of people.

There were 1635 admissions at $25 a ticket, paid in Aer-O-Plane money. The picture was very interesting and was much enjoyed.

Columbus, April 2.—H. H. Scott, state superintendent of banks, has issued a call for the condition of all state banks as of March 31.

BEAST ACTS ELIMINATED

Jungle Animals Will Not Be Included In Performance This Year, Circus Announces.

New York, March 31.—No more will the wild animals of Ringling Brothers & Barnum and Bailey circus be forced through stunts in iron cages to the accompaniment of snapping lashes and the crack of pistols when the show takes to the road this spring.

"Many parents object to taking children to a show where men and women enter cages with ferocious beasts," Charles Ringling explains. "The public seems to prefer acts in which the animals themselves take an interest in their part, as do dogs, seals, horses and elephants."

The jungle beasts still will be carried in the menagerie, he said.

BASE BALL DOPE

BOOK MAKES ANNUAL APPEARANCE

First signs of the arrival of the base ball season of 1925 were evident with the departure of the major league players for their training camps, but that the season has surely arrived is now certain with the appearance of the first schedule and record book. As usual, it is The Dope Book, published by C. C. Spink & Son, St. Louis, Mo., publishers of "The Sporting News."

A feature of this book this year which fans will welcome, is the appearance of practically all the minor league schedules in connection with the major league dates given day by day. Special attention is also devoted to playing records established last year, considerable space being given to details covering World's Series and minor league statistics.

Among other features are a special section devoted to complete biographies of the stars of the major league teams, instructions on how to score. Complete rosters of major league teams, giving the height, weight, age, and other interesting information about all major league players, etc.

If any reader wants one of these booklets, vest-pocket in size, that may be carried at all times, as a settler of arguments, you may have a copy by simply sending ten cents to C. C. Spink & Son, St. Louis, Mo., who will forward one of them promptly to the readers of this paper.

Unemployed Poles Are Protected by State

Through a law which came into effect recently, manual workers in the Polish republic are insured against unemployment. Non-manual workers and persons in seasonal occupations who work less than ten months in the year are not covered by the new law. Agricultural laborers and others working for concerns employing fewer than six persons also fail to be protected.

Of the 2 per cent of the wages of the workers collected by the state for the insurance fund, the workers pay one-quarter and the employers three-quarters. A worker with no dependents draws 30 per cent of his usual wages when out of work; 35 if he has a family of two; 40 for a family of five and 50 if his family exceeds five in number. To be eligible for unemployment benefits a worker must have been employed at least twenty weeks during the year immediately preceding his enforced idleness, and he must notify the labor exchange within four weeks after his discharge.

HEALTH WORK CONSIDERED AT MEETING

Full Time Officer Discussed at the Chamber of Commerce.

Now it is Circleville and Pickaway county that wish to emulate the example of the Chillicothe and Ross county system of public health work.

Heretofore many cities and counties in the state have copied after the joint system used here, with one commissioner for both the city and county. The fact that the system is good is shown by the fact that other districts are adopting it and that the state department of health has endorsed it.

Circleville with the idea of adopting the local system, has asked the local health commissioner, Dr. G. E. Robbins to attend a meeting there Tuesday night and present the advantages of the joint system. The mayor, chamber of commerce and history council will be represented at the meeting.—Chillicothe News Advertiser.

Dr. Robbins accompanied by Phillip Seward, were present at a meeting of the chamber Tuesday evening. In a most interesting manner the Ross county health officer told how they did things down in the old Metropolis. There the health officer, who is a whole time officer gets results and the people get action for the money that is spent along this line.

MUSEUM OF DAUGHTER OF KING OF BABYLON FOUND

Many Priceless Objects Discovered by Expedition of British Museum and Pennsylvania University.

Philadelphia.—A museum, the property of the daughter of the late king of Babylon who ruled in the Sixth century B. C., has been uncovered and many priceless objects obtained by the joint archeological expedition of the British museum and the University of Pennsylvania at Ur of the Chaldees, according to the December report of the scientists made public in London and Philadelphia recently.

The scientists who are digging in the buried city of Anuram in ancient Babylonia reported that the museum contained objects dating as far back as 2500 B. C.

C. Leonard Woolley, head of the expedition, recounted what had been accomplished at the Hall of Justice called E-Dubai-Makh, the other site on which the archeologists are working.

"We have worked out the history of the building," he said, "from Nabonidus, king of Babylon in the Sixth century, B. C., back through the repairs done by Sin-Balatsu-Ikbi, a hundred years before, by Kuri-Galzu, the Kassite, in the Sixteenth century; by Ishme-Dagan, king of Isin, 600 years before that, to its original foundation by Bur-Sin of Ur about 2250 B. C. Even below the walls of Bur-Sin we have come upon brick work of a more primitive sort bearing no name but marked with two finger prints deeply impressed to hold the mortar, a record of the shadowy kings of the second dynasty of Ur who may have reigned some 2,800 years before Christ."

"From an inscription preserved in the museum at Yale we know that the last king of Babylon, Nabonidus, following ancient precedent, consecrated his daughter, Bel-Shalti-Nannar, as high priestess of the moon god at Ur and built an E-Gig-Par Op cloister for her dwelling, and, incidentally, he lays down the most admirable moral precepts for her guidance."

"The ground plan of the place answers perfectly to the word 'cloister' used in the Yale inscription and there can here be no doubt we have the actual convent of the priestess."

"The contents of the building were not less important than its character. School materials, writing exercises, etc., seemed to show that the religious houses then, as now, had their educational side, and the daughter of Nabonidus, himself a well-known antiquary, appears to have kept a museum in her convent, for there were found in the ruins a large number of objects of such different dates that it is hard on any other theory to account for their presence all together in rooms of the latest period."

OPENED DIKES TO SAVE BELGIAN ARMY

Hero Who Stopped Germans
by Flood Is Dead.

Bruges, Belgium.—Henri Geeraert, lockkeeper of the sluices of Nieupoort and hero of the first battle of the Yser, died in a hospital here after a long illness. On Christmas day, when he seemed near the point of death, he received an award of the Cross of the Order of Leopold, in recognition of his action in opening the dikes in November, 1914, flooding the Yser battlefield and stopping the German advance. The honor acted as a tonic and Geeraert revived for a time.

It was after the surrender of Antwerp, when the German troops were advancing victoriously across Belgium, that Geeraert's knowledge of the workings of the Belgian sluice system came into play, saving not only the Belgian army from complete destruction but bringing about the definite blocking of the road to Calais to the Germans.

When the sluices were opened the water began flowing into the flat country along the eastern side of the railroad bank from Nieupoort to Dixmude. At first its progress was not noticeable, the water being absorbed by the ground. Within 48 hours, however, the ground became juicy and a few hours later the whole country was transformed into a muddy plain with the German men and horses struggling desperately to free themselves from the entangling slime.

Gradually the water began to rise above the ground, one foot, two feet, and at last three feet. A faithful ally of the Belgians, the flood paralyzed the invader. When the Germans had discovered what was going on it was too late. Many guns had to be abandoned and the German troops, caught by the rising waters, were either drowned in their trenches or, unable to return to solid ground, had to surrender.

By early November an artificial lake more than two miles wide acted as an effective barrier to the enemy from Nieupoort to the north of Dixmude. The first battle of the Yser was over and the Germans had met with a serious check.

Geeraert, who was fifty-one years old at the time, together with Cogge, his companion sluicekeeper, supervised the operation of the sluices to admit the water and manipulated them in a way to avoid extending the inundation west of the railway bank, where the penetration of the water would have hampered the Belgian defenders, whose line of defense had twice been broken and re-established at great cost before the expedient of opening the sluices, at Geeraert's suggestion, was adopted and successfully carried through.

AMUSEMENTS

Shades of "Passion" and all the rest Pola Negri in an Ernest Lubitsch production. Sounds like old times!

"Forbidden Paradise" which opened at the Met theater last night, brings Pola to the screen in the first American-made production by this greatest of all European directors.

The story is a romantic drama of a small Balkan kingdom. Pola has the role of the Czarina, a woman of many loves; Rod La Rocque is a soldier in her army at the front and Adolphe Menjou plays to perfection the role of court chancellor. Pauline Starke, who completes the featured players, is first lady in waiting to the queen in love with La Rocque as Alexei.

The production is an adaptation of the stage play, "The Czarina," a tale of regal romance and intrigue with the star in her greatest role—by far.

Lubitsch has developed tremendously since the early days in Europe when his genius was only feeling its way along. There is in his methods today a sweep and sureness which were not present then. In "Forbidden Paradise" he is vestly superior to the youthful Lubitsch who startled the world with "Passion."

Pola, too, has developed. As a queen she is superb. La Rocque, Menjou and Miss Starke are all ideally cast. And in all, "Forbidden Paradise" offers entertainment for everyone. It has gripping drama, heart appeal, genuine humor—a picture that's bound to please.

Life on Mars

The basis of the belief that the life on Mars, if there is life there, is more advanced than that on the earth, is that Mars is smaller than the earth and must have cooled its surface millions of years before the earth did. Hence, if there is life on Mars it must have begun long before life on the earth and would have had a far longer period of development.

Steal for Their Employers.

"Malay servants have to be watched in many ways," says Mrs. Carveth Wells who spent some time on the Malay peninsula according to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. For instance, a native servant's idea of loyalty to his master is to steal all he can from some one else and bring it to his master. "If we went visiting, at leaving we would ask the host to count the number of silk stockings and handkerchiefs missing, so that we could get them from the servants and return them before going. Many a time I have found several extra pairs of silk hose in my suitcase and a grinning servant expecting praise for stealing them for me, and many times, too, I have found my own wardrobe rather bare after company had left."

Bonanza

"Bonanza" is a Spanish word meaning "fair weather" or a "favoring wind." The miners of Comstock lode, a gold and silver mine in Nevada, which yielded 340 millions worth of ore in 30 years, first used the word to signify an abundance of precious metal or rich ore. The word is now also used to signify any good fortune or successful enterprise.

Abyssinian Alphabet Huge

Abyssinia is a nation of more than 10,000,000 of whom a large percentage are illiterate, and it is a coincidence that the Abyssinian alphabet contains 230 letters. If an Abyssinian typewriter should be built on the same plan as the one used in America and European countries, it would have nearly 500 keys. Without any extra characters it would ordinarily have 472 keys, providing 944 letters, numerals and necessary characters.

Advice for Poets

To the poet, as to every other, we say first of all, "See." If you cannot do that, it is of no use to keep stringing rhymes together, jingling sensibilities against each other, and name yourself a poet; there is no hope for you. If you can, there is, in prose or verse, in action or speculation, all manner of hope.—Carlyle in "Heroes and Hero Worship."

Sperm Whale Valuable

The most valuable catch that can be made in salt water is a sperm whale. A very large specimen taken off the west coast of Vancouver Island was found to contain 250 pounds of ambergris. This alone brought $150,000, while the blubber and spermaceti were worth another $3,500.

English Idea of Murder

The generally accepted definition of murder in English law is that of Coke: When a person of sound memory and discretion unlawfully killeth any reasonable creature in being and under the king's peace with malice aforethought, either expressed or implied.

Looked Bad for Client.
Attorneys, in making an appeal to a jury in behalf of a client, frequently make assertions which give rise to laughter. There is hardly a jury trial that does not offer some such mirth. Recently in one of the Indianapolis Superior courts the introduction of evidence had been completed and one of the attorneys in the case arose to address the jurors. He spoke in this manner: "Gentlemen of the jury, the position of my client in this case is identical with the preacher who was walking alone on a country road one day when he met a great, big grizzly bear." At this point the judge of the court turned and whispered to a bystander: "It looks like his client is going to be torn to pieces."

Off-hand, and as an innocent bystander we should say, having in mind the bonnet-like hats the gals are wearing—hats that overhang like the porch on a bungalow roof—offhand we should say that he'd have to remove his hat, if he has any idea at all of efficiency.—Detroit Free Press.

Raising Teasels

The town of Skaneateles, N. Y., has a thriving industry, perhaps not duplicated elsewhere in the United States. It raises teasels and finds a steady demand for all it can produce.

Now not every one knows what teasels are. The teasel is a plant that produces a ball of porcupinelike quills, the largest from three to four inches long and two inches wide. These are an indispensable element in the manufacture of broadcloth, felts and woolen goods of the finer grades.

The teasels grow from three to five feet high, on prickly green stems with spiky leaves, for two years. Then they are harvested, usually in August, and dried with great care. They are sold to a firm of teasel dealers in the town, where, in turn, they are parceled out to woolen manufacturers all over the country.

The cloth manufacturer bores a hole through the teasels and ranges them on a shaft, against which he runs his finer qualities of fabrics. The points are very brittle, and as fine as the finest needle. These points scrape the cloth and give it its nap, or woolly surface. Machinery can be used to do this only in the cheaper grades of material.

STATE FISH CAR

Is Being Completely Overhauled In Preparation For Coming Season's Work.

In preparation for the coming season, the State fish car "Buckeye" is being completely overhauled at Columbus. This car, which is equipped with a series of tanks, a plant for aerating the water and with quarters for four operators, travels from Sandusky to all parts of the state each Spring and Fall with mature fish for breeding purposes. Most of the eight inland hatcheries operated by the Division of Fish and Game receive breeders from this car. The remainder of the fish are placed in various parts of the state in streams and ponds.

During 1924, the "Buckeye" made 24 trips, distributed fish to 65 towns, traveled almost 6,000 miles and disposed of over 150,000 fish. Species used for breeding purposes and carried by this car are large and small mouth bass, rock bass, catfish, pickerel and bluegills. The "Buckeye" will be in constant operation during April and May, the Fall season occurring in October and November.

THE BLESSINGS OF PENTECOST

LESSON TEXT—Acts 2.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."—Acts 2:28.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes People Glad.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Happened on the Day of Pentecost.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Story of Pentecost.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Holy Spirit in the Church.

1. The Day of Pentecost Fully Come (vv. 1-13).

1. Significance of the Day (v. 1). Pentecost is from a Greek word meaning fifty. It was the feast held fifty days after the wave sheaf offering (Lev. 23:16). The wave sheaf typifies the resurrection of Christ (1 Cor. 15:20-23).

2. The Gift—Holy Spirit (vv. 2-4).

On this day the Holy Spirit descended upon the disciples. This does not imply that the Spirit was not in the world before this, for throughout all the ages He has been in the world giving light and life to it. It means that from that time forth He would work on a new basis, having the crucified, risen and ascended Christ to present to the world.

3. Upon Whom the Spirit Came (v. 1); cf. 1:13-15.

The twelve and others, both men and women to the number of 120, showing that the gift of the Holy Spirit was for all believers.

4. The Marks of the Spirit (vv. 2-4).

(1) External.

a. The sound of a mighty wind (v. 2). This is suggestive of the mysterious, pervasive and powerful energy of the Spirit.

b. The tongues of flame (v. 3). Each of the 120 was crowned with such a tongue. Tongues show the practical purpose of the Spirit's gift—witnessing, and the fire indicates the purifying energy burning up the dross and making effective witnessing for Christ.

c. Speaking in foreign tongues (v. 4). This was a temporary endowment for this special purpose.

(2) Internal.

This is seen in the transformation wrought in the disciples. Though a little while ago they were trembling with fear, they now have great courage and self-possession.

5. The Effects (vv. 5-13).

(1) The multitude were filled with amazement and wonder. The gift of the Spirit transforms common men into men of power and influence.

(2) Some mocked and foolishly attempted to account for this remarkable occurrence. They accused the disciples of being intoxicated. The world today mocks men and women who testify in the power of the Holy Spirit.

11. Peter's Sermon (vv. 14-47).

Peter's sermon is as wonderful as the gift of tongues. It demonstrates the presence and power of the Spirit, since Peter was a Galilean fisherman without literary training. His analysis is perfect. He begins with a brief defense and scriptural explanation of the phenomenon of tongues (vv. 14-21). This is followed by a threefold argument to prove the messiahship of Jesus (vv. 22-36). The conclusion is an appeal to repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus.

1. The Introduction (vv. 14-21).

(1) Defense of the disciples against the charge of being drunk (v. 15).

(2) A scriptural explanation. He showed that this was a partial fulfillment of that which Joel predicted would come to pass (vv. 16-21; cf. Joel 2:28-32) before the messianic judgment, viz., an outpouring of the Holy Spirit and the salvation of all who call upon the name of the Lord.

2. The Proposition, or Theme (v. 36).

This was the messiahship of Jesus.

3. The Argument (vv. 22-36). It was threefold.

(1) From Christ's works (v. 22). He was approved of God among the Jews by His miracles, wonders and signs which God did by Him in their midst.

(2) From His resurrection (vv. 23-32). The Old Testament Scriptures had foretold the death and resurrection of Christ (Ps. 16:8-10).

(3) From His ascension to the right hand of God (v. 32). The proof that He had ascended on high was the wonderful miracle of the Spirit's operation in their midst, for He had said that upon His ascension into heaven He would send forth the Spirit.

4. The Effect of the Sermon (vv. 37-42).

Many people were convicted of their sins. Some three thousand repented and were baptized.
